

Gate A — identity lock, argued on paper first

An anchor built on an unlocked face gets rebuilt thirty-nine times. Before you call this gate, write — in pencil, from memory, without the screen — the three features per identity that must never move. Then open the references and see if the sheets agree with you.

IDENTITY	MUST NOT MOVE	WHAT MOVED (PENCIL)
ORIANE	brows squared at the inner edge · pale blue-grey eyes · crystal is aura over cloth, never skin
CAEDOM	same bone structure in both forms · white light irises, no beam · never brightens
ALDER — nineteen	blonde, longer face, watchful · mouth closed · same height as his brother
WREN — eighteen	brunette, rounder face, mid-speech · same height — age reads in features, never stature

The lock list

- ☐ Every reference on one screen, side by side — hunt for a face that moved
- ☐ Brothers height check: both A sheets together, identical stature, non-negotiable
- ☐ Aura rule holds everywhere: adept hollow at the centre, bearer lit from within
- ☐ Every character against its movement's lighting plate — plastic shows here first
- ☐ Damage fixed at exactly three marks on Oriane — reject any frame with a fourth
- ☐ No colour in Movement II references except the crystal and the seam-light

Passing this gate closed: date _____ · what you re-rolled to pass it _____